Regulatory Update

October 2015

Reinstatement of Type Approval Regulations for FCC Approved Products

It has recently been confirmed by the Dominican Republican Regulator, Instituto Dominicano de las Telecomunicaciones (INDOTEL), that Type Approval requirements are in place for all radio devices.

Although it had previously been confirmed in 2012 that FCC Approved devices do not require Type Approval in the Dominican Republic, INDOTEL has now advised that this is no longer the case and National level Type Approval is required.

The Type Approval process remains a paperwork only process for FCC Approved devices. All devices without FCC Approval require local testing in addition.
