

Gas systems in residential complexes

Safe use of gas falls under your responsibility as a Housing Association or Owners Association (Vereniging Van Eigenaren or VVE). Analysing possible risks and the scope of those risks is of essential importance for this.

Housing Associations and Owners Associations (VVEs)

Our assessments and advice make you capable of:

- issuing a well-substantiated statement on the safety of the gas systems in your residential complex
- setting up an effective replacement policy for your gas systems
- submitting effective and properly researched investment proposals
- guaranteeing your occupants' safety, both now and in the future
- determining whether your outlay in the area of gas systems (installation and maintenance) is well spent
