

Safety and Risk Assessments

We perform safety assessments and product risk assessments for products and systems where there are no agreed standards to comply with. From network QRAs, push fittings in the gas industry to road surfacing equipment via pig roasting equipment, we have assessed and applied our expertise. We always try to stand in our clients' shoes and use the utmost technical rigour, to consistently deliver reliable, impartial, well informed opinion on our clients' behalf.

This service is for network operators or manufacturers, importers and distributors developing products and services for which there are no agreed standards.

The output from these projects allows our clients to demonstrate that their products and/or systems are fit for purpose.
